

NETWORKS

ENGAGEMENT

This three-day, hands-on workshop will provide information about:

- Finding the right institutional fit for you
- What is a search committee looking for?
- Putting together a successful faculty application
- How to stand out in the interview
- How to maximize the impact of your interview seminar
- How and when to negotiate a good start up package
- How to (safely) find out about the culture of the department
- Choosing good collaborators
- How to obtain funding
- Building your lab
- Time management
- Understanding the tenure process
- Balancing work and family

Workshop Coordinators:

Rebecca Richards-Kortum
Professor and Chair of Bioengineering
rkortum@rice.edu

Administrative contact:
Kisha McRae-Kennedy
713.348.5870, knm2@rice.edu

Negotiating the Ideal Faculty Position

A Workshop for Female PhDs & Post Docs

ARE YOU INTERESTED IN PURSUING AN ACADEMIC CAREER
IN SCIENCE OR ENGINEERING?

October 14 – 16, 2007

The George R. Brown School of Engineering and
The Wiess School of Natural Sciences
Rice University

Airfare, hotel accommodations, and meals provided at no cost to workshop participants.

Application deadline:

August 1, 2007

Applicants selected to participate will be notified by September 3, 2007.

To apply, send:

- Your contact information • CV
- Name and contact information of your advisor
- A brief description of your future research interests (half page)
- A statement explaining why you want to attend

Applicants must submit all application materials electronically:
<http://advance.rice.edu/negotiatingtheidealfacultyposition>.

Come learn how to negotiate the ideal faculty position for you!

WIESS SCHOOL OF NATURAL SCIENCES
GEORGE R. BROWN SCHOOL OF ENGINEERING